

Dannion and Kathryn Brinkley

Dannion and Kathryn Brinkley are writers, authors, lecturers and spiritual teachers who have both survived four near-death experiences between them. In 1994, as Dannion's first bestselling book, Saved by the Light, was being published, Kathryn was leaving her footprint in the literary world as the author of Jewels for the Soul: Spiritual Reflections for the Heart and Soul. As a cutting edge journalist with the very popular newspaper column, Kathryn was dedicated to interviewing world's leaders in global/spiritual consciousness and also produced a radio show around those interviews. It was during that time Kathryn conducted an interview with Dannion to promote his new runaway bestseller. They refer to this interview as their "date with destiny" as it led to their marriage five years later. Although this was Dannion's first marriage, he enthusiastically took on the responsibility of step-parenting Kathryn's six children.

Today, this devoted couple works ceaselessly to champion virtues spiritual ethics in daily life through articles, lectures, workshops, radio and television shows as well as their tours to sacred sites around the world. Their recently released acclaimed book, Secrets from the Light: Lessons from Heaven is exposing even more people to their profound understanding. Together, Dannion and Kathryn are undaunted in their commitment to creating a higher consciousness of support and acceptance for the circle of life, including the celebration of transition from this world to the next.
